Chair Notes

ORDINARY TIME. A time defined by what it's not: it's not Christmas, it's not Easter. It makes me smile because, while we find ourselves in Ordinary Time, NOVA is bursting with what is.

Today, for example, is our Social Justice liturgy. We began pumping iron to develop our Social Justice muscle, to deepen our practice of compassion, to recognize our humanity and Christ's humanity in all others, and then be able to share in that common bond. We struggle with rejecting labels that are impediments, such as The poor, Those people, and we are challenged to leave aside the head game and get to know just one person who does not have the essentials for sustaining a life or a family here in the States. As we each see ways we can continue to develop compassion and then activate it within our daily lives, we are asked to share them with the community on the postcards given out at liturgy. In turn, they will become available through the newsletter—a kind of social justice workout program for the community's health. This helps us prepare for the Social Justice meeting November 13 which is intended to be a discussion of some important challenges and commitments we face this year.

Nova is in a new building with all the adventure that comes with acclimation. We are trying on different rooms for size to determine what best suits all our needs. We want to be sure that families with children give voice as to how best to accommodate them. We've been using the music room, but for the next couple of weeks we are going to try out the cafeteria. Thank goodness for NOVA's continued practice of flexibility.

For everyone new to the building, it is a challenge to locate liturgy and parking. Now that we've had some time to adjust, today we committed to putting into action our respect for our presiders' time by beginning liturgy at 10:15.

This fall is a time of beginning for us. John Mausert-Mooney has volunteered to launch an education program for the children. He has wants to hear from any parents interested in enrolling their kids and from volunteers interested in helping teach classes. Peggy Becker has already volunteered to be part of the effort. This also requires commitment from the whole community to actively support families with children whatever form it may take. Oh, go ahead. Let your imagination run wild: it shouldn't only be the adults who get to use the animal puppets or be Pope for a Day.

John Veldhuis joins John in his interest in forming a program for advancing adult learning. Several different suggestions came up at NOVA Nite and we look forward to Jerry and Clyde's offer to deepen our understanding and practice of dialogue as well as the possibility of having Drew Christiansen share his expertise.

The community is having an All Soul's Remembrance Program on November 20. Thanks to the generous persistence of Ken Chaison and his crew, we will be able to honor and bear witness to those loved ones who we have lost this year. Our hearts and prayers go out to the family of Marcy Jacomet, Anne Houck's daughter, who died this week and we especially hold Anne, Joe & Phyllis, Emily, Joel, Ketty and Marcelline in our thoughts.

The aliveness of this Ordinary Time for me comes in the woven fabric of community with thick threads of sadness and shimmering skeins of joy, sometimes the shuttle carries both at the very same time. Today we also join our voices to the hoots and hollers accompanying John Mausert-Mooney and Meg Sullivan's announcement of their engagement. Our delight mirrors theirs.

The last addition to this varied tapestry is an invitation to come together to celebrate Gil and Sonja Donahue's anniversary and Sonja's birthday on December 3 from 4-7 at Goodwin House East. NOVA never needs a reason to party, but who could pass this one up? The grace and enthusiasm of this couple for NOVA is one of the blessings of Ordinary Time.

Peace....
~Marie Keefe

News.....

Will the Heat Drive Us Out of the Kitchen?

For many years, NOVA has prepared and served an evening meal at the Christ House shelter in Alexandria, once every other month. NOVA's "Christ House meal" is meatloaf and scalloped potatoes, prepared by many members of the community and brought to the shelter by a crew of 4 to 6 volunteers, who reheat the food and serve it to about 70 clients. We also serve green beans, salad, rolls, and brownies; all these items are prepared at Christ House.

The Alexandria Health Department has informed Catholic Charities and the Christ House staff that the evening meal program could not continue to serve meals prepared in private homes. This includes meals prepared in private homes and reheated at Christ House. Meals must be prepared in "certified kitchens," i.e., kitchens which have been inspected and approved by the Health Department and which have a certified food service manager in charge.

NOVA will prepare our traditional meal and serve it at Christ House on December 19; after December, there must be changes. It seems to me virtually impossible for NOVA to continue to prepare our traditional meal in a certified kitchen, whether at Christ House or elsewhere. To prepare all the food at the same time in the same place would require the better part of a day; getting a crew together to do this would be difficult.

Several possibilities occur to me, including giving up the Christ House project and investing those energies elsewhere. What about meals that could be prepared at Christ House? Several of the groups that serve meals at Christ House have changed their menus to meals that are easier for a small crew to prepare in the Christ House kitchen. The new menus include spaghetti and meatballs, open-faced turkey or roast beef sandwiches with gravy, lasagna, franks and beans, stew. In almost all cases, the solution has been to buy industrial size canned goods or trays of frozen food and heat it at Christ House.

Should NOVA change our Christ House project to an operation that simply heats up commercially prepared food in the Christ House kitchen? If so, who will do the procurement and where? Could we/ should we rigidly standardize—that is, Costco lasagna OK, Sam's Club not allowed? Keep in mind, we already prepare salad from scratch; we also "prepare" green beans at Christ House (that is to say, we open cans of beans and dump them in a pot) as well as rolls and brownies.

One trouble with this kind of solution is that most NOVA members would lose the hands-on involvement of preparing food for the hungry. My sense is that some community members are seeking ways to work together actually to accomplish something with their own hands that helps the poor and the hungry. Many have pointed out that one of the aims of the evening meal program at Christ House is to provide a hot, home-cooked meal, something with soul in it, not just a sandwich and a bag of chips. I know that some members of NOVA relish the tactile connection of cooking the food themselves. But there are possibilities relating to this factor as well. One idea is to have a rotating kitchen crew whereby every two months different people go to Christ House to prepare and serve the meal. (I would be willing to serve as "executive chef" each time if need be.)

So, does the NOVA Community want to shop at Costco and cook at Christ House, or write another check, or cut this project in favor of something else? I'd appreciate your thoughts and ideas. I hope this question gets a lot of discussion at NOVA's Social Action meeting on November 13 and that the community can decide how to proceed.

Anne Houck's daughter, Marcy Jacomet, died and, at last, is in peace. She has been in the embrace of her family, both immediate and extended, for her last few days at Fairfax Hospital.

We offer Marcy's family our heartfelt prayers and also extend our love to wrap around Anne, Joe & Phyllis, Joel, Emily, Ketty and Marcelline.

Peace be with you all.

Liturgy Tip

Setting up and Taking Down ("Cleaning up is next to Godliness.")

Remember that restoring the environment to its pre-liturgy status is as important as creating a sacred environmental setting for the liturgy itself. What this means in practical terms is that, as planners, you are responsible for clean-up: folding the altar cloths and napkins (and taking them home to wash if necessary); washing with soap and water all the glasses and plates used for the Eucharist, (either at Kenmore or at home); and, storing in their proper place in NOVA's storage closet the screens, tables, candle holders, cross and any other items you have used to create the environment. While the planners for the following week may volunteer their help (and will undoubtedly find doing so helps orient them to where they will be able to find what they need the following week, remember the responsibility for clean-up after the liturgy is essentially yours as the liturgy planner for that Sunday. Don't hesitate to ask for help from other NOVA members as needed.

Finally, don't forget to return to Kenmore the following week any items you have taken home for washing and cleaning!

HBO Film, Twist of Faith to be shown by local Voice of the Faithful Affiliate November 13—3pm Arlington Central Library, Free

Please mark your calendars to attend a special event our affiliate is hosting on the eve of the Bishops' annual meeting. Those of us who viewed the HBO film, Twist of Faith, at the October affiliate meeting were quite moved, and we wanted to introduce it to a wider audience in Northern Virginia. One reason is to keep attention on support for survivors as that priority continues to be high on our list. Another reason is to challenge the Bishops as they gather in our backyard, esp. in light of the continuing evidence of abuse and cover-up revealed in the Phila. GJ Report and the summary of priest-abusers in the L.A. Archdiocese.

We've arranged to show the film in the main meeting room of the Arlington County Library. We've also arranged with the company that distributes HBO films to rent a DVD version of the film for this event. We will pay the $250 charge for renting the DVD from some funds donated by the NOVA Catholic Community plus contributions others will hopefully make if needed.

The baseline format we have in mind is to show the film and have small group/large group discussion after it. In the meantime, we're considering some additional options.

This event gives VOTF a wonderful opportunity to shine more light upon the survivor issue on the eve of the Bishops' meeting.

Social Justice Exercises

Similar to St. Ignatius Spiritual Exercises, we are actively developing thoughts inline with Social Justice. We want your ideas.

Please take some time to think of some possible exercises that would:

- Sensitize/awaken compassion
- Generate a discipline which then becomes second nature
- Peak interest in serving the poor.

We are most interested in those that we each could perform individually, in our daily lives. Marie Keefe mentions some of them on page 1 of this newsletter. Some ideas were to actually talk to the individuals who often have people just pass by. This is a little more than “random acts of kindness” and more of a search of how we can be more like Christ.

Please forward your ideas to Dianne Carroll.
